

I AM NYCC

MARIE-PIER SAURIOL (6TH TRI)

Marie-Pier Sauriol had her first taste of chiropractic care in the year 2012. She was having chronic headaches and she sought relief from a doctor who prescribed medication for her, which ended up having minimal effect. One day Marie stumbled upon a chiropractor at a services fair and decided to give it a shot and signed up for an initial consultation. It wasn't until she visited the chiropractor a couple times that she started feeling relief from her headaches. Ever since that moment, Marie-Pier knew that the path she wanted to walk upon was one of chiropractic care. After hearing about Marie-Pier's interest in chiropractic, her chiropractor highly recommended New York Chiropractic College to her and thus began Marie-Pier's journey at NYCC.

Currently, Marie-Pier is a 6th trimester DC student at NYCC. Ever since she started attending NYCC she has loved every moment of it. Some of her favorite classes are the technique classes due to the hands on experience of the various chiropractic techniques they offer. Her favorite professors include Dr. Loia, Dr. Warshal, as well as Dr. Canfield. Marie-Pier really enjoyed Dr. Warshal's sense of humor which made his lectures more entertaining and engaging. Marie-Pier loved Dr. Canfield's teaching style because of her succinctness which made the material easy to understand. The best part of NYCC for Marie-Pier is the sense of community. NYCC provides many opportunities for incoming students to get to know each other better as well as interact with upper classmen. The students at NYCC tend to connect with each other at a deeper level because everyone is passionate about chiropractic care.

After graduating from NYCC Marie-Pier plans to go back to Canada and start off associating for a couple years before opening her own practice. Marie-Pier wants to focus her future practice on pediatrics and pregnant patients. A word of advice that Marie-Pier wants to leave for NYCC students would be "short term pain for long term gain". No matter how tough it may be going through the chiropractic program, the end result will be worth the effort many times over.
