New York’s Enough is Enough initiative resulted in a sweeping law passed in June 2015 that will combat sexual assault on all New York college and university campuses.

THE LAW COMBATS SEXUAL ASSAULT ON COLLEGE CAMPUSES BY CREATING:

- Statewide definition of affirmative consent as a knowing, voluntary, and mutual decision among all participants to engage in sexual activity
- Statewide amnesty policy encouraging students to report incidents of sexual assault or other sexual violence by granting immunity for certain campus policy violations, such as drug and alcohol use
- Students’ Bill of Rights, which campuses will be required to distribute to all students, informing sexual violence victims of their legal rights and available resources (see over)

TO REPORT A SEXUAL ASSAULT 24/7

Dial 911

Seneca Falls Police (315) 568-4850

NYCC Campus Security (315) 568-3022

Campus Sexual Assault Unit Task Force Hotline (844) 845-7269

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

You have the right/choice to make a report to campus security, local law enforcement, and/or state police.

You have the right to report the incident to NYCC and to be protected by NYCC from retaliation for reporting an incident.

You have the right to choose not to report.

You have the right to receive assistance and resources from NYCC.

- Comprehensive training requirement for administrators, staff, and students, including at new student orientations
- Requirement for campuses to annually submit incidents of reported sexual violence to the State Education Department to be made publicly available on their website
- A sexual assault victims unit within the State Police, specializing in response to sexual assaults and related crimes and training of local law enforcement
- Requirement for first responders to notify survivors of their right to contact outside law enforcement
